This course is aimed at non-native speakers of German teaching GFL to students of all age groups, in various types of schools and for different purposes.

One-week modules are designed for the teaching of a certain age range of pupils/students. Each module is repeated regularly and may be combined with certain other modules to form two-week courses. Please check this carefully before making your choice according to our published start dates.

Objectives

This practical course develops the participants' personal language skills and presents various techniques and methodological approaches of teaching German as a foreign language.

German as a Foreign Language in Practice

For the morning sessions, the course tutors will place each teacher in an international live German as a Foreign Language class in which they will refresh and develop their personal language skills. Simultaneously, the participant may observe in practice many of the skills taught in the methodology classes.

Participants will have the opportunity to observe teaching strategies taught in the afternoon methodology classes as well as to practise their language through Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing. In addition to the consequent increase in personal fluency and confidence in lesson delivery, these sessions will be devoted to refreshing the experience of being a student again. Teachers may lose sensitivity to the real situation of the student. Here they become more acutely aware of learning difficulties from a student's point of view. The methodology tutor will receive and discuss feedback in the afternoon session.

GFL Methodology and Teaching Strategies

The afternoon sessions cover essential strategies and techniques of teaching language and discuss how to manipulate them in the classroom. The course programme consists of various modules to meet the needs of teachers of different age groups and school types.

Weekends

Weekend days (on arrival or between two course weeks) are devoted to informal learning through self-study, personal research, cultural visits and activities, exchange of ideas and experience as well as practising language skills in everyday situations.

Course Content

Montanalingua

Montanalingua is an innovative new approach to language teaching which uses the ideas, values and methodology of outdoor experiential learning.

We introduce fun and motivating language modules which all have an element of adventure and are to be carried out in the countryside or park.

Students have to solve various outdoor tasks and team challenges.

Team spirit & creativity are developed as much as language competency.

Learners discover language as a means of communication that is relevant and indispensable to solving various challenges.

Learners exchange/discuss ideas, make decisions and instruct each other and in so doing use the target vocabulary and grammatical structures in a direct personalized context.
